Olds Orations

A J Sannes was up from Calgary Labour day.

Mr A W Upham was an over Sunday visitor in Calgary.

Dan Beaton sold his farm six miles north east of Olds last week. Cunningham left for the states on a visit last Thursday.

Rev Samuel Sellery of Kingston is visiting his sister-in-law Mr E Reed and friends. Mr Sellery occupied the pulpit of the Methodist church on Sunday evening. His discourse was appreciated by a large audience.

The CPR are building a fine large section house in the south part of Olds.

A W Upham bought the J Kenney farm a half mile from the creamery on the 7th. The price paid was $35 an acre.

There was a fair sized crowd out to see the circus Wednesday.

The Olds Realty Co have made several good land sales lately.

The Olds football team defeated Didsbury 8 to 2 for a cup on Labor day.

The baseball boys are very much disappointed at not being able to finish the game with Red Deer on Labor Day.

There was just one innings played. Olds was at bat with one man on second and none out when the rain cheated us out of a good chance to show the boys some of the finer points of the game.

"At Home"

The Rev and Mrs F E Davies request the pleasure of the company of all the members of the Methodist church in Bowden to an "at home" which will be held in McCue's hall on Wednesday week, September 21st at eight o'clock. There will be a good program of music, recitation and song. Rev Davis and church officers will say a few words and refreshments will be served during the evening. This free invitation includes all those friends, who, although not members, attend the Sunday services at the Bowden Methodist church.

All directors of the Bowden Agricultural society are asked not to forget the meeting in McCue's hall on Saturday evening 10th inst.

Mr and Mrs R Booth and daughter Miss G Booth of Pembroke are visiting Dr and Mrs Gray this week.

The party is en route east after an extended tour of the coast and Western Canada.

The Churches

Rev F E Davis will conduct Divine service in the Methodist church next Sunday at 3:30 and at Lone Pine school house at 12:00.

Rev Davis made a public appeal last Sunday night at the Methodist church for some new hymn books for the use of visitors. A friend has kindly offered to collect the money to pay for them and the books have been ordered.

The annual meeting of the Methodist Ladies Aid will be held in the parsonage next Wednesday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock. As this is the meeting for the election of officers for the ensuing year, a large attendance of the lady members is requested.

The choir of the Methodist and Presbyterian churches have agreed to hold their week night practices during winter months, in the homes of the members instead of in the church. This week the practice was held at Miss Bryenton's. Next Wednesday the choir will meet at Mrs Butler's.

A "Tea" will be served by the W. A. (English church, Bowden) from 5:00 till 7:00 p.m. on Friday Sept 16th in the building east of the bank. There will be a provision sale etc. Don't forget the date; everybody welcome. A good tea for 25c.

Presbyterian church service next Sunday will be as follows:

Red Lodge at	11:30
Eagle Creek at	3:00
Bowden at	7:30

Subject: "The Great Necessity" You are all cordially invited to attend.

There will be a union Thanksgiving service held in the Presbyterian church on Sunday Sept. 18th. It is children's day and there will be special attention given to children of both Sunday schools. Arrangements are being made for the children to take part in the service. Mr T C Coldwell, supt. of the Methodist S S will give an address. Remember the date of this service, Sunday Sept. 18th and send along the little ones.

Lakeview Ripples

Rev J H Lonsdale preached in Mr Merrile's dwelling on Sunday August 28th. Wet as the evening was there was quite a few gathered.

Miss Clara L Tyner commenced her duties on Monday last the school board is to be congratulated on securing such a competent teacher.

Mr Robert Sharp is going to the Wainwright district to locate; all here wish him every success.

Rev W T W Fortune preached a able sermon here on Sept 4th. Mrs S Milne presided at the organ.

Mr Fortune after church service organized a branch of the Alberta Temperance and Moral Reform League to be known as the Lake View League. The officers are active members and their motto will be "The Bar Must Go".

Lakeview Creamery is turning out choice butter this season. Geo Burges knows how to make butter.

Mr Fortune was unable to reach Trochu owing to the serious illness of Mr Craig. All here deeply regret Mr Craig's illness and hope to see him around soon.

Mr F W Collins postmaster at Dorris has purchased a beautiful span of driving horses. He is farming in an up-to-date manner and raised a bumper crop. The G T P is grading in this district and the iron horse will be passing thru that vicinity early next summer.

It has been rather wet the past month for haying and harvesting it will turn out for the best as the ground will be in fine shape for a bumper crop next year.

All They Could Afford

"Sir," said the indignant citizen, "I found a fishworm in my hydrant this morning."

"I'm very sorry," replied the complaint clerk, "that we cannot afford to supply you with fish, but at the present low rate for water the best we can do is to furnish bait."

FOR BABY'S TENDER SKIN

Because of its delicate, emollient and antiseptic properties derived from Cuticura Ointment, united with the purest of cleansing ingredients and most refreshing of flower odours, Cuticura Soap is unrivalled for preserving, purifying and beautifying the skin, scalp, hair and hands of infants and children. In the prevention and treatment of torturing, disfiguring eczemas, rashes, itchings and irritations, warm baths with Cuticura Soap and gentle anointings with Cuticura Ointment often succeed when all other methods fail. Guaranteed absolutely pure and may be used from the hour of birth.

Anxious Mother—How do you know Cashleigh is in love with you? Has he told you so?

Pretty Daughter—No-o! But you should see the way he looks at me when I'm not looking at him.

SUMMER RECORDS OF CHILDREN'S DEATHS

Records show that by far the greatest number of deaths among little ones occur during the hot summer months. The excessive heat, the difficulty in keeping baby's milk sweet, improper food all tend towards bringing on those dreaded baby troubles—cholera infantum, diarrhoea, dysentery and other stomach and bowel troubles. To guard against these troubles Baby's Own Tablets should be kept in the house. An occasional dose of the Tablets will prevent these deadly summer complaints or cure them if they come on suddenly. Mrs. O. Morin, Ste. Tite, Que., says: "My baby suffered from a severe attack of cholera infantum, but after giving him Baby's Own Tablets the trouble disappeared and he regained health splendidly." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

PRODUCED AN ECLIPSE.

The Persian Astronomers Were More Diplomatic Than the English.

Official Chinese astronomers sometimes get their heads cut off for not correctly foretelling an eclipse. Illustrating this, I am told by my friend, the astronomer royal, of a visit paid about thirty years ago to the observatory in Greenwich park by the shah of Persia of that date. The shah made a great point of visiting the British state observatory in company with King Edward, who was then the Prince of Wales.

Sir George Airy was the astronomer royal and showed the party over the building and gave them peeps through telescopes. "Now, show me an eclipse of the sun," said the shah, speaking in French. Sir George pretended not to hear and led the way to another instrument. "Dog of an astronomer," said the shah, "produce me an eclipse!" Sir George politely said he had not got one and could not oblige the king of kings. "Ho, ho!" said the shah, turning in great indignation to the Prince of Wales. "You hear; cut his head off!" Sir George's life was, as a matter of fact, spared, but in the course of a year he retired and was succeeded by the present astronomer royal.

On his appointment that gentleman was astonished at receiving a letter of congratulation from the shah of Persia. The shah evidently thought that his request had been attended to, though with some delay. He proceeded to tell the new astronomer royal that he had a few days before witnessed a total eclipse of the sun in the observatory at Teheran. This was perfectly correct, but the suggestion seemed to be that the Teheran astronomers knew their business and had the good sense to arrange an eclipse when a royal visitor wished for one and so escape decapitation.—Sir Ray Lankester in London Telegraph.

James the Great.

The educated chimpanzee known as James the Great is at present one of the sensations of the vaudeville stage in Europe. A man who saw him perform in Germany writes: "The animal does all sorts of tricks under the direction of his master and at one time occupies the stage all alone, and then he becomes the most interesting. He wears long black trousers, a green pea jacket and a light felt hat of alpine shape. The monkey makes his bow and advances to the wings, where he receives from an attendant a bicycle, which he mounts and rides around the stage at all speeds from the very slow to racing time and seems to enjoy it. Then he does some fancy riding and closes by wheeling in and out among a dozen champagne bottles, coming dangerously close to some of them, but hitting none. He is a wonderful example of the trainer's patience and the monkey's adaptability."

New Sport of Flying.

Operating an aeroplane is easier than riding a bicycle or steering an automobile. In driving on the road your attention is required constantly to be fixed upon the paths or ruts in which the vehicle must be guided, for the slightest inattention would cause serious trouble. Guiding an aeroplane is like riding a bicycle in the center of an immense asphalt plaza where the surface is perfectly smooth and uniform and where you can go in every direction equally well without serious attention as to where you must steer. In the air all is free, and the movements become so unconscious that the aviator's mind sometimes wanders off until he almost forgets that he is in an aeroplane. One can look down on the ground and notice various things, but it is very hard to tell how high you may be flying or the exact angle of flight of the machine or its speed.—Country Life in America.

Smoke Detector.

A Scotchman, John Lowden, has invented a "smoke tintometer," which, it is thought, may be of use in prosecuting cases of "smoke nuisance." It consists of a tube with a single eyepiece and two object openings. One of these is clear, but the other contains a revolving diaphragm, in which are set five circles, one of clear glass and the other four of tinted glasses corresponding with the standard tints of a scientific "smoke chart." In examining smoke defied air the diaphragm is turned until the tinted glass coincides in darkness with the air seen through the clear aperture. The various glasses are systematically numbered, so that a glance suffices to show the degree of dediment of the air.

Another Simile.

"What did the sun look like to you when you were in the arctic regions?" "Well," answered the explorer thoughtfully, "it resembled an elusive gold dollar much magnified."—Washington Star.

It Depends.

Teacher—Johnny, which is right—"a man lies easy" or "a man lies easily?" Pupil—Who's the man?—Cleveland Leader.

Self-Preservation

"Well, I like your nerve!" exclaimed the astonished millionaire. "Here you want to marry my daughter and I understand you are being supported by your father."

"Yes, that's a fact," was the candid reply of the young man. "But father says he is getting tired of supporting me, so I made up my mind to get into another family."

When asked to write a short composition on some interesting experience, Tommy, after much labor, handed his teacher the following:—"Twins is a baby, only it's double. When twins do ennything wrong their mother can not tell which one to lick, so she gives to both of them so as to make sure. We've got twins at our house, and I'd swap 'em enny day fer some white mice or mos' ennything!"

"I hear your friend Thomas is married again."

"Yes, so he is. He's been a dear friend to me. He's cost me three wedding presents and two wreaths."

An Oil That is Famous.—Though Canada was not the birthplace of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, it is the home of that famous compound. From here its good name was spread to Central and South America, the West Indies, Australia and New Zealand. That is far afield enough to attest its excellence, for in all these countries it is on sale and in demand.

Mrs. Wildman—I can tell you this, Mr. Wildman, if you continue in your present life of extravagance you'll surely pay for it some day.

Mr. Wildman—"I wish my dear, that my creditors had the same faith in my good intentions."

When going away from home, or at any change of habitat, he is a wise man who numbers among his belongings a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial. Change of food and water in some strange place where there are no doctors may bring on an attack of dysentery. He then has a standard remedy at hand with which to cope with the disorder, and forearmed he can successfully fight the ailment and subdue it.

"Sir," said the trembling suitor, "you are a millionaire, and I am a poor man; but my love for your daughter is so great that I cannot be stopped by any consideration as to my poverty. Love seems convenience and conventions. Sir, give her to me." "But which of my four daughters do you want?" asked the old man, not unkindly. "Oh, sir," came the eager reply, "I'll leave that to you!"

The Lady—"You have been recommended to me as an experienced divorce lawyer."

The Attorney—"I am at your service, madam. What grounds have you for divorce?"

The Lady—"Oh, I got my divorce six months ago. What I want is a lawyer who will get my alimony away from the lawyer who got my divorce."

Boys, Be Gentlemen

Last Friday evening the station platform was the scene of very disgraceful conduct on the part of some young men who came in from the country to charivari a wedding party leaving on their bridal tour. Good wishes and congratulations are alright but when they are carried to a degree of roudyism it is time to call a halt.

Decent people do not like to be made the centre of public attention by a crowd of roughs who have no respect for themselves or the feelings of any one else and we consider the conduct shown by these young men deserving of severe censure.

No person, or persons will be "written up" in this paper, whilst we are in the chair, unless the of actions that party or parties are a detrement to the community at large. The actions of these young men were so noticeable that we feel we cannot let them pass without expressing the feelings of every sensible person who witnessed the scene. We feel sure there will be no repetition of its kind in future but also state that should such conduct come to our notice again we shall not be slow in taking the matter up in our columns.

The Man From Brodney's

Firearms and ammunition were taken from the gunroom to the quarters occupied by the white people. Every preparation was made for a defense in the event of an attack from the outside or inside. The white servants were moved into rooms adjoining their employers. Britt and Saunders transferred their belongings to certain gorgeous apartments. Miss Felham went into a Marie Antoinette suite close by that of the princess. The native servants retained their customary quarters below stairs.

Far in the night Geneva, sleepless and depressed, stole into the hanging garden. Her mind was full of the horrid thing that had happened to Hollingsworth Chase. He had been nothing to her. He could not have been anything to her had he escaped the guns of the assassins. And yet her heart was stunned by the stroke that it had sustained. Wide-eyed and sick, she made her way to the railing and, clinging to the vines, stared for she knew not how long at the dull red glow on the mountain.

The night was still and ominously dark. She had never known a night since she came to Japan when the birds and insects were so mute. A somber, supernatural calm hung over the island like a pall. The smell of smoke hung about her. She could not help wondering if his fine, strong body was lying up there burned to a crisp. It was far past midnight. She was alone in the garden. Sixty feet below her was the ground; above, the black dome of heaven.

She was not to know till long afterward that one of her faithful Thorberg men stood guard in the passage leading up from the garden, armed and willing to die. One of the other slept in front of her door through all those nights on the island.

Something hot trickled down her cheeks from the wide, pitying eyes that stared so hard. She was wondering now if he had a mother, sisters. How their hearts would be wrenched by this! She was thinking of him with pity and horror in her heart, not love.

A question was beginning to form itself vaguely in her troubled mind. Were all of them to die as Chase had died?

Suddenly there came to her ears the sound of something swishing through the air. An instant later a solid object fell almost at her feet. She started back with a cry of alarm. A broad shaft of light crossed the garden, thrown by the lamps in the upper hall of the chateau. Her eyes fell upon a wriggling, snake-like thing that lay in this path of light.

Fascinated, almost paralyzed, she watched it for a full minute before realizing that it was the end of a thick rope which lost itself in the heavy shadows at the cliff end of the garden. She was standing directly in the shaft of light. To her surprise, the wriggling ceased. The next moment a faint, subdued shout was borne to her ears. Her flight was checked by that shout, for her startled, bewildered ears caught the sound of her own name.

At last, far above, she saw the glimmer of a light. It was too large to be a star, and it moved back and forth. Sharply it dawned upon her that it was at the top of the cliff which overhung the garden and stretched away to the sea. Some one was up there waving a lantern. She was thinking hard and fast, a light breaking in upon her understanding. Something like joy shot into her being. Who else could it be if not Chase? He alone would call out her name. He was alive!

She called out his name shrilly, her face raised eagerly to the hobbling light. Not until hours afterward was Geneva to resent the use of her Christian name by the man in the clouds.

Rushing over, she grasped the knot end of the rope. A glance and a single tug were sufficient to convince her that the other end was attached to a support at the top of the cliff. It hung limp and heavy, lifeless. A sharp tug from above caused it to tremble violently in her hands. She dropped it as if it were a serpent. Again she heard the shout, and this time she called out a question.

"Yes," was the answer, far above. "Can you hear me?" (I'll tell you, she called back that she could hear and understand. "I'm coming down the rope. Pray for us—but don't worry! Please go inside until we land in the garden. It's a long drop, you know."

"Are you quite sure—is it safe?" she called, shuddering at the thought of the perilous descent of nearly 300 feet sheer through the darkness.

"It's safer than stopping here. Please go inside."

She duly comprehended his meaning. He wanted to save her from seeing his fall in the event that the worst should come to pass. Scarcely knowing what she did, she moved over into the shadow near the walls and waited breathlessly, all the time wondering why some one did not come from the chateau to lend assistance.

At last that portion of the rope which lay in the garden began to jerk and writhe vigorously. She knew then that he was coming down hand over hand through that long, dangerous stretch of darkness. The cliff reared itself sheer to the height of 350 feet directly behind the chateau. At the summit of this great wall a shelving ledge projected over the hanging garden. A rope dangling from this ledge would fall into the garden not far from the edge nearest the cliff. The summit of the cliff could be gained only by traversing the mountain slope from the other side. It was impossible to scale it from the floor of the valley which it bounded.

The rope was undoubtedly attached to the trunk of a sturdy tree at the brow of the cliff.

She could look no longer. It seemed hours since he started from the top. Every heart beat brought him nearer to safety, but would he hold out? Any instant might bring him crashing to her feet—dead, after all that he may have lived through during that awful night.

At last she heard his heavy panting—growing almost—the creaking and straining of the rope, the scraping of his hands and body. She opened her eyes and saw, the bulky, swaying shadow not twenty feet above the garden. Slowly it drew nearer the grass covered floor, foot by foot, straining, struggling, gasping in the final supreme effort, and then with a sudden rush the black mass collapsed, the taut rope sprung loose, the end switching and leaping violently.

Geneva rushed frantically across the garden, half fearful, half joyous. As she came up the mass seemed to divide itself into two parts. One sank limply to the ground, the other stood erect for a second and then dropped beside the prostrate, gasping figure.

Chase had come down the rope with another human being clinging to his body!

Geneva fell to her knees beside the man who had accomplished this miracle. She grasped his hands, warm and sticky with blood. She tried to lift his head from the ground, moaning with pity all the time, uttering words of encouragement in his ear.

Many minutes passed. At last Chase gave over gasping and began to breathe regularly, but heavily. The strain had been tremendous. Only superhuman strength and will had carried him through the ordeal. He groaned with pain as the two beside him lifted him to a sitting posture.

"Tell Selim to come ahead," he gasped, his bloody hand at his throat. "We're all right!"

Then, for the first time, Geneva peered in the darkness at the figure beside her—a slight, graceful woman in oriental garb. The woman turned and lifted her face to the heights from which she had descended. In a shrill eager voice she called out something in a language strange to the princess. A faint shout came from on high, and once more the rope began to writhe.

The princess passed her hand over her eyes, bewildered. The face of the woman in the light, half shaded, half illumined, was gloriously beautiful—youth, dark, brilliant!

"Oh!" she exclaimed, starting to her feet, a look of understanding coming into her eyes. This was one of the Persians! He had saved her! A feeling of revulsion swept over her, combating the first natural, womanly pride in the deed of a brave man.

Chase struggled weakly to his feet. He saw the tense, strained figure before him and, putting out his hand, said:

"She is Selim's wife. I am stronger than he, so I brought her down." Then, looking upward anxiously, he shouted: "Be careful, Selim! It's easy if you take your time to it."

CHAPTER XVII

NEENAH.

"SELIM'S wife, Neenah, saved my life." It was the next morning, and Chase was relating his experiences to an eager, marvellous company in the breakfast room. "She has a sister whose husband was one of the leaders in the attack. Neenah told Selim, and Selim told me. That's all. Days ago Selim and I reached the rope at the top of the cliff, anticipating just such an emergency as this and intending to use it if we could reach the chateau in no other way. I figured that they would cut off all other means of getting into your grounds."

"Neenah came up from the village ahead of the attacking party, out of breath and terribly frightened. We didn't waste a second, let me tell you. Grabbing up our guns, we got out through the rear and made a dash across the stable yard. It was near midnight. The servants, all of whom were up and ready to join in the fight, attempted to bind us off. We and a merry little touch of real warfare just back of the stables. It was as dark as pitch, and I don't believe we hit anybody. But it was lively scrambling for a minute or two, let me tell you."

Deppingham's big blue eyes were fairly snapping. His wife put her hand on his shoulder with an impulse strange to her, and Geneva saw a light blaze in her eyes. "I hope you potted a few of 'em. Serve 'em jolly well right!"

"Selim says he stumbled over something that groaned as we were racing for the back road. I was looking out for Neenah." He glanced involuntarily from Lady Agnes to the princess, a touch of confusion suddenly assailing him. "Selim covered the retreat," he added hastily. "Instead of keeping the road we turned up the embankment and struck into the forest. Dropping down behind the bushes, we watched those devils from the town race pell-mell, howling and shooting, down the chateau road. There must have been a hundred of 'em. Five minutes later the bungalow was afire. It was as bright as day, and I had no trouble in recognizing Rasula in the crowd. Selim led the way, and I followed with Neenah. Haug it all, Browne, I didn't have time to save that case of cigarettes. I'm out nearly a hundred boxes."

"They will dispose of us wholesale, not by the piece."

"You might have saved the cigarettes if you hadn't been so occupied in saving the fair Neenah," said her ladyship, with a provoking smile.

"Alas, I thought of that also, but too late! Still, virtue was its own reward. Imagine my delight when we stopped to rest to have Neenah divide her own little store of Turkish cigarettes with me. We had a bully smoke up there in the wood."

"Selim, too?" asked Browne casually. "Oh, no! Selim was exploring," said Chase easily.

"Neenah is very beautiful," ventured Lady Agnes.

"She is exquisite," replied Chase, with the utmost sang froid. "Selim bought her last winter for a ten carat ruby and a pint of sapphires."

"That explains her overwhelming love for Selim," said the princess quietly. Chase looked into her eyes for a moment and smiled.

Could Lift a Ton and a Half.

A Scotchman, said to be the last of the Stuarts, was possessed with an extraordinary strength, from which circumstance he got the byname of Jemmy Strength. Among other feats, he could carry a twenty-four pounder cannon and had been known to lift a cartload of hay weighing a ton and a half upon his back. Many a time he took up a jackass, and, carrying it on his shoulders, walked through the tollgate.

A Family Custom.

Besides possessing literary attainments, Lady Tullibardine, the English authoress, is a musician of more than average ability, and her signature is to be found appended to several very beautiful songs. Like the marchioness, she is intensely Scotch in sentiment, and when she was married, eleven years ago, a custom was observed which has been handed down in the family for many generations. When a Duchess of Atholl or Marchioness of Tullibardine enters Blair Castle for the first time she may not walk into the house, but must be carried over the threshold. The marchioness was duly carried by her husband, the marchioness, and deposited in the hall amid the cheers of the retainers.

THE ANIMAL DERBY.

It Would Be Ostrich 1st, Greyhound 2nd, Kangaroo Also Ran.

Most people have heard of those animal races which are a popular feature of gymkhana meetings, but it may be explained that for an animal race the competitor enters any sort of animal he likes, except a horse or a dog, and drives or guides his champion to the winning-post.

Now, we will turn the Derby into an animal race, open to the whole animal kingdom. We will suppose that each animal runs throughout at the greatest speed of which it is capable, and that they don't interfere with each other.

First of all the field. Some animals—such as cattle—are, obviously, too slow to stand a chance, and so we will line up the following ten starters. Hare, lion, roebuck, greyhound, horse, giraffe, elephant, kangaroo, dromedary, and ostrich—the last-named because, although a bird, he runs, and runs mighty fast, too.

Indeed, here it may as well be said that, if you want to win money on an animal race, you back the ostrich every time, for he is the fastest thing on land, and only one bird can beat him—namely, the swallow. The ostrich, then, would win our animal Derby with the greatest possible ease, for he would cover the 1 mile 4 furlongs and 29 yards of the Derby course at the amazing speed of 109 miles an hour—that is, nearly three times as fast as any horse ever foaled could do it, and, roughly, twice as fast as any other competitor among those named.

The record time for the Derby was made in 1906, when Major Loder's Spearmint won in 2 minutes 36.45 seconds. The ostrich would take, roughly, 53 seconds.

But who would be second? Probably the kangaroo will have a good many adherents, for, outside Australia, people have no idea that the kangaroo hops at a tremendous pace. But the kangaroo would finish "down the course" convoluted last!

A kangaroo is a very fast animal, 7-12 miles an hour is his best speed. For second place the old be a fairly close fight between the greyhound and the roebuck, that to a greyhound can go nearly a mile a minute—54 miles an hour, to be exact—and this would just bring him behind the roebuck, whose best speed is a trifle over 50 miles an hour.

Now, for fourth place. The hare seems a likely choice; but again you would be wrong. A lion can give a hare a start and a beating. A lion is capable of 45 miles an hour, but the hare is fully extended at 4 miles an hour less.

What about the horse? Well, 38 miles an hour is the thoroughbred's limit, and that brings him into sixth place. Spearmint won his Derby at the rate of, roughly, 35 miles an hour, but a horse is capable of 38 miles an hour over a short distance.

Not far behind the thoroughbred would come the giraffe, who gets along at the "useful" gait of 34 miles an hour.

Then would come a big gap, closed at the other end by the elephant, who would come trumpeting along at a sedate 12 miles an hour.

The dromedary's speed, too, is a myth. Mr. G. E. Lerner, the amateur walking champion, would make the dromedary step out, for the beast is not up to more than about 9 miles an hour, and Mr. Lerner has walked 9 miles in 67 minutes 37.45 seconds.

And so the final placings of our animal Derby would be—ostrich, greyhound, roebuck, lion, hare, horse, giraffe, elephant, dromedary, kangaroo.

The Rug.

The lifetime of a rug depends not a little upon whether it is hung over a line and beaten to remove the dust or laid on a flat surface and beaten and swept. The warp of even a small rug is strained more by taking hold of one end and vigorously whipping out the dust than it is by a month's time of wear.

The Dogger Bank.

The great North sea fishing ground, known as the Dogger bank, is estimated to yield an annual income of $3,000 a square mile.

The First Comedy.

Thalia is the muse of comedy and lyric poetry. Socrates and Democritus, supposed inventors of theatrical exhibitions, 562 B. C., performed the first comedy at Athens on a wagon or movable stage on four wheels and were rewarded with a basket of figs and a cask of wine.

How Salt in the Sea Varies.

In a ton of dead sea water there are 187 pounds of salt; Red sea, 93; Mediterranean, 85; Atlantic, 81; English channel, 72; Baltic, 18; Black sea, 26; and Caspian sea, 11.

Vaughan's Forgery.

The first recorded forgery on the Bank of England was in 1758, when a linen draper named Vaughan employed some men to engrave a twenty pound note. The forgery was discovered, and he was hanged.

The Coliseum.

We boast of stadiums which can seat 40,000 spectators of modern sports and forget how much more imposing and immense the Romans made their Coliseum, where 87,000 could sit and 15,000 more stand in the surrounding room.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

LESSON X.—THIRD QUARTER, FOR SEPT. 4, 1910.

Text of the Lesson, Matt. xxi, 33-46. Memory Verses, 45, 46—Golden Text, Matt. xxi, 43—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

These parables of the last week of His ministry must have been, in His estimation, very important, closing, as they did, His final appeals to the nation. How much do they mean to us? That of the two sons is recorded only by Matthew. These of our lesson are found in Matthew, Mark and Luke. In the vineyard parable of the last chapter the topic was the laborers and their wages, but here it is the ill treatment of the servants and of the son himself by those who ought to have rendered the fruits to the householder. How often the words come to us as we write these notes: "He was in the world, and the world knew Him not. He came unto His own and His own received Him not. But as many as received Him to them gave He the right to become the sons of God" (John i, 10-12). The world by its wisdom knows not God (I Co. i, 21). Israel, chosen and dealt with as no other nation, mocked the messengers of God and despised His words and misused His prophets until the wrath of the Lord arose against His people till there was no remedy (II Sam. vii, 23; II Chron. xxxvi, 16). How much worse will be the doom of those who at the end of this age know not God and obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ (II Thess. i, 7-9).

If you think of Israel as the vineyard of the Lord (Isa. v, 1-7) consider how He could have done more for her than He did and endeavor to answer the question, Wherefore brought it forth wild grapes? If you think of the church of today or of this age and of our Lord's saying, "Herein is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit" (John xv, 8), where is the much fruit, the fruit unto God, the fruit unto holiness, the fruit unto life eternal? (Rom. vi 22; vii, 4; John iv, 36.) Might He not say of us, as He did of Israel, "An empty vine bringing forth fruit unto Himself?" (Hos. x, 1.) Last of all He sent unto them His Son (verse 37). "God, who at sundry times and in divers manners spake in time past unto the fathers by the prophets, hath in these last days spoken unto us by His Son" (Heb. i, 1-3). The house of Judah cast Him out and killed Him. Today many who profess to be His friends are saying He was born like other men, He did not know as much as some who are now alive, He did not suffer for our sins, He never rose from the dead, He wrought no miracles, He will never come again, there is no devil and no hell. Which are the worst—those to whom He addressed this parable or those who in our day take Him away from us, and His word and His salvation, and leave us nothing but the reason and wisdom of men?

We shall learn from the lessons following some of the things He will do when He comes again, but here He tells us how He was about to deal with Israel as a nation. As before the captivity in Babylon He gave them forty years, during which He pleaded with them by Jeremiah the prophet, so at the time of our lesson there were scarce forty years before them until Jerusalem should be destroyed and the nation scattered, never to be a nation again during this age. But as we have watched the Zionist movement of the past ten years and this very year (1910) see the possibility of Mesopotamia being occupied by the Jews and Babylon being restored as a commercial centre and remember such words as these—"He that scattered Israel will gather him and keep him as a shepherd doth his flock;" "They shall call Jerusalem the throne of the Lord, and all the nations shall be gathered unto it, to the name of the Lord to Jerusalem" (Jer. xxxi, 10; ii, 17)—we cannot but ask, Where are we in the working out of His purpose, and how near may we possibly be to the end of this evil age? His question to them ought to be a heart question for us, "Did ye never read in the Scriptures?" (Verse 42.) And it should set us searching in this connection the wonderful story of "The Stone of Israel" from Gen. xlix, 24, on through Ps. cxviii, 22, with its other N. T. references besides the one in our lesson, such as Acts iv, 11; Eph. ii, 20; I Pet. ii, 4, 7. Then Isa. viii, 14; xxviii, 16, and on to the stone of Dan. ii, 34, 35, 44, 45, when He will come in His glory break in pieces the nations and set up His kingdom, which will fill all the earth with His glory.

For the benefit of those who have not a Scofield Bible I will quote his note on verse 44 of our lesson: "Christ as the 'Stone' is revealed in a three-fold way—first, to Israel, Christ, coming not as a splendid monarch, but in the form of a servant, is a stumbling stone and rock of offence (Isa. vii, 14, 15; Rom. ix, 32, 33; I Cor. i, 23; I Pet. ii, 8); second, to the church Christ is the foundation stone and the head of the corner (I Cor. iii, 11; Eph. ii, 20-22; I Pet. ii, 4, 5); third, to the gentile world powers He is to be the smiting stone of destruction (Dan. ii, 34). Israel stumbled over Christ; the church is built upon Christ; gentile world dominion will be broken by Christ." There was some phase of the kingdom taken from Israel and given to a nation bringing forth the fruits thereof. I Pet. ii, 9, has a bearing upon it, but in due time we shall see.

Her Father—Blanche, why doesn't Mr. Linger go home earlier? Blanche—I'm why, dad.

PRINCE RUPERT ROAD

G.T.P. EXPECTS TO REACH
TERMINUS IN 1912

Two Exploratory Parties are Now Engaged Making a Reconnaissance in Connection with Proposed Branch From Main Line to Vancouver—Construction Not to be Undertaken Until the Main Line is Completed.

Vancouver, B. C.—The Grand Trunk Pacific management expects to have the main line completed into Prince Rupert in 1912, or 1913 at the latest, said C. M. Hays in an interview. The rapidity of construction hinges upon labor conditions, which this year have been very unfavorable. On the main line and prairie branches construction gangs are deficient to the number of five thousand men.

Two exploratory parties are now engaged making a reconnaissance in connection with the proposed branch from the main line to Vancouver. One party is working south from a point near Fort George. This would indicate that its starting point may be farther east than was originally proposed. The other party is working north from Lytton. The determination of the route into Vancouver, whether by way of the Lillooet country, branching off from the Fraser above Clinton, or by way of Lytton, has been left for future consideration. Construction will not be undertaken until the main line is completed. No purchases of terminals or waterfront in Vancouver or vicinity have been or are contemplated at present. False Creek as a terminal is still regarded with favor by the management.

On the question of route, Mr. Hays said: "We will not undertake the building of a branch line into Vancouver, much as we would like to come south until we have finished the main line. At present we have in the field two parties engaged in making a reconnaissance, preliminary to determining the most advantageous route. One outfit is working south from a point in the vicinity of Fort George, the other being engaged in looking over the country extending north from Lytton at the junction of the Fraser and Thompson rivers, a point on the Canadian Pacific railway. This leaves the question of a route into Vancouver in abeyance. There is no hurry about the matter. We want ample time to study the whole question of productive territory and low grades."

BRISTOL MERCHANTS IN CANADA

Large Delegation of Business Men
Trying to Enlarge Shipping Trade
With the Dominion

Calgary.—A delegation of business men of the Bristol, England, Chamber of Commerce, who are touring Canada, for the purpose of developing trade, will visit many Alberta points in September.

Their chief business is to develop Canadian shipping trade from the port of Bristol. The delegation is a very representative one and includes twelve of the leading members of the largest business firms of Bristol.

The Canadian trip will not be of very long duration, but their visit in the west will occupy most of their time in an effort to get the trade of Western Canada for their city.

Among those in the delegation are George Rieley, sheriff of Bristol; Alderman F. B. Collhurst, J.P., of the firm of Collhurst and Harding, paint, varnish and paper manufacturers; T. B. Johnson, of Poutney and company, limited, hardware manufacturers; Edward Louth, of Messrs. Turner-Knott company, grain merchants; C. C. Huggins, of Tuggins, Pearson and company, limited, government army and navy clothing manufacturers; E. Harvey, of Harvey and Sons, wine and spirit merchants; P. E. Gane, of Gane, Ltd., furniture makers; E. J. Taylor and Sons, silk manufacturers; John Horn, of the Bristol Biscuit company; J. C. Skewes, of Messrs. Skewes Bros., merchants, and several others.

RAINBOW'S LONG TRIP

Canadian Cruiser Will Cover 13,000
Miles to Reach Naval Station at Esquimalt

Ottawa.—The cruiser Rainbow, which sailed from Portsmouth, England, recently for Esquimalt, is due at the naval station on the Pacific coast on November 7. She will call at Las Palmas on Wednesday and round Cape Horn about the end of September, touching at Rio Janeiro and Montevideo. En route a stop will not be made at any United States port on the west coast, the cruiser proceeding directly from Acapulco, Mexico, to Esquimalt. In all she will cover 13,000 miles, which will be a pretty good test of her sea powers.

EDMONTON FAIR

Twenty Thousand Present on Second Day—Horse Racing Provides
Fine Sport

Edmonton, Alta.—Twenty thousand people attended the second day of Edmonton's exhibition. The attendance is double that of the record of a single day of any previous exhibition held here. The racing afforded excellent sport and the vaudeville was of a highly entertaining nature. The parade of prize winning cattle was a feature of the afternoon, the animals taking part numbering 140. The prize winners are practically the same as at the other big western exhibitions. The exhibition is now an assured financial success.

COLONY ON READY-MADE FARMS

C. P. R. Irrigation Company's Experiment Near Strathmore is a Great Success

Calgary.—From the satisfaction expressed by the twenty-five English farmers whom the C. P. R. placed on the ready-made farms at Strathmore, even in the face of the present dry season and their determination to continue to work the land there, it would seem that the venture has proved a success. The C. P. R. regard it as such, and they have decided to try it elsewhere, in opening up similar land under like conditions at Sedgwick, Cairn Hill and Crossfield.

Miss Currie Love, publicity agent of the C. P. R., returned to the city from Strathmore recently, and she brought glowing accounts of the condition of the colony.

If they had had a good year, so Mr. Hal Carlton, who is a sort of chairman in the community, declared, they would have made $1,500 in cash on the crop. As it is, they have made enough on vegetables and poultry to tide them comfortably over until next year. The present year has taught them the value of irrigation, a system of which will be installed on their land in readiness for next year. At any rate, vegetables had thriven remarkably well, such as potatoes, peas, beets, turnips, radishes, cabbages and cauliflowers.

Mr. Carlton feels that it would be an advantage for them to continue diversified farming, rather than confine themselves simply to grain growing. He is confident that if the exact conditions were known in England, there wouldn't be enough farms for those who would wish to come.

The twenty-five have formed themselves into a happy little community. Once each week they meet and discuss plans for the betterment of the colony. They have bought machinery on the co-operative plan, and have adopted the scheme of charging for teams or implements borrowed. They are thinking, too, of establishing a school, as there are twenty children of school age and ten younger ones.

TRYING TO DIVERT MOVEMENT

Extensive Advertising Will be tried as Means to Stop People
Coming to Canada

Calgary.—On the United States side of the border, the trek to Canada is beginning to get on the nerves of the business men. They do not like it. They particularly do not like it because the citizens they are losing belong to the class that buys sterling goods and pays for them. That is one reason why items appear every once in a while regarding the formation of this or that association, whose aim is to show the people that the United States is a good country to live in.

A movement just started by the business men of Duluth has as its object the diversion of some part of this Canadianward movement, to upper Minnesota, and the medium chosen for the advancement of the undertaking is extensive advertising. And it is to be persistent and consistent—the line will not be drawn between winter and summer. Twenty-five thousand dollars has been granted by the state legislature toward the $100,000 advertising fund that the Federated Commercial Clubs of the State propose to raise.

ATTEMPT AT DOUBLE CRIME

Fire Set to Door of Room in Which
Two Women Were Sleeping Near
St. Thomas, Ont.

St. Thomas.—What appears to be a deliberate attempt at arson and murder was discovered at the house of Matthew Doyle, seventh concession, Yarmouth, at three o'clock in the morning recently.

A lad named Leo Fox, who was awakened by sickness, going from his room saw on the landing a light, which he found to come from some burning material on the door knob of the room in which Miss Margaret Doyle and her niece, Miss Josephine Doyle, were sleeping. He aroused the women, who tried to get out of the room, but the handle of the door was too hot to open. The younger woman went to a window and screamed for help. Mr. Leslie a neighbor, responded, and investigation showed that entry had been made into the house through a window into Doyle's bedroom, and the man must have pushed through the room without rousing him. Doyle is 70 years of age.

Condition of Crops

Winnipeg.—Reports from one hundred different points throughout the three western provinces received by the Canadian Northern show that the crops will turn out much above the estimate of a couple of weeks ago. During the past week the weather has been ideal, and the wheat and oats have filled splendidly. Cutting is half done in many sections and threshing has become general. Very few carloads of 1910 wheat have as yet been sent to the elevators. The yield is all the way from 10 bushels per acre to 26 bushels, in the majority of sections hovering between 16 bushels and 20 bushels.

Chairman in Dispute

Montreal.—The department of labor has appointed W. D. Lighthall, K.C., of Montreal, chairman of the board of conciliation in the dispute between the shipping federation of Montreal and the ship liners. The men are represented by George Pelouin and the federation by Fred L. Lauer, secretary of the Builders' Exchange.

MOST EXPENSIVE FIRES

LIST OF VICTIMS IS STEADILY INCREASING

Fires in Forest Reserve Still Raging, But Are Left to Burn Themselves Out—180 Men Surrounded in the Mountains Between Lolo Pass and St. Mary's—Three Guides Sent to Pilot Them Out.

Spokane.—The mystery of the bodies being found in St. Joe county, Idaho, probably will be cleared up, when the Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget road runs its first passenger train to Avery. One hundred and six men living in the St. Joe valley are missing.

Twenty-two bodies, supposed to be of settlers, were found a few days ago. Several days ago twenty bodies were discovered, scattered over an area of over a mile, and it was assumed they were forest employees. Supervisor Weigle included them in his list of dead employees. However, he declared they were not rangers. Added to the number of dead rangers, seventy-four, and forty-four bodies found near Avery, the ten Japanese who perished near Washington and Montana, the total is 142. This is without taking into account the 185 rangers imprisoned on the head waters of the St. Joe.

The appalling loss of life among the forest employees has taken the heart out of the surviving foresters, and an order has been issued not to risk life to save timber.

The little fires are being extinguished, but the great fires, to fight which might result in more loss of life, will be allowed to burn themselves out until the rains extinguish them.

In the Coeur d'Alene mining country the fires have exhausted their full force, as they have in Point d'Oreille Valley. In the Clearwater country and the thickest timber of the Coeur d'Alene national forest, however, the flames are as hungry and active as ever. No lumbermen or forester will give an estimate of the timber losses. Even after the fires are out it will be difficult to reckon the cost.

It is believed, however, that the present fires are the most expensive the United States has ever known. A prominent railroad builder estimated the loss of the Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget Sound railway at $2,500,000. The Spokane chamber of commerce has begun the raising of a large relief fund.

There are 180 men surrounded in the mountains between Lolo Pass and St. Mary's, and Major Fenn has sent three guides to pilot them out. Conditions in the Clearwater reserve are hopeless, and Major Fenn has received instructions from the forestry headquarters at Missoula to recall all the fire fighters from the interior of the stricken region, and set them to work on the outskirts of the fire zone. The message said: "Save the lives of the men and let the timber go."

LAURIER'S RETURN

Will Reach Ottawa on September 7—
Early Session of Legislature
Anticipated

Ottawa.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier is due to return to Ottawa on September 7, and about all the ministers will be back by that time. As a comparatively early session is anticipated there will be none too much time to prepare for it. Mr. Fielding, and probably Mr. Patterson, will take up at the end of September or early in October the question of reciprocal negotiations with the United States. They are expected to take place both here and at Washington.

The head of the department of labor of Ohio has written the labor department here asking for copies of the Canadian enactments. He desires to know if similar legislation could obviate a recurrence of the serious strike at Columbus.

PRISONERS AIDED BY WOMAN

Moir and Taggart Traced From Hamilton to London—Investigation
Still Going On

Hamilton, Ont.—It is to a woman that Moir and Taggart owe their escape from Hamilton asylum. For this the police are satisfied, and the trail leads from Moir's cell to London, where Moir was once in barracks and later in jail while awaiting trial. During this later interval he is said to have made an acquaintance, who proved a devoted but misguided friend ever since.

When the investigation ordered by Col. A. J. Matheson is completed there are likely to be vacancies on the staff of another public institution as well as on the Hamilton asylum.

G.T.R. Wants to Use C.N.R. Tracks

Ottawa.—On Sept. 13 the railway board will hear an application which is being made by the Transcontinental railway commission to secure running rights over the Canadian Northern through the city of Winnipeg pending the building of its own line.

This connection is necessary in order to give the National Transcontinental railway a through line on which grain can be carried from Edmonton to Winnipeg.

Distinguished Guests

Montreal.—In addition to the papal legate two other cardinals, one hundred and twenty archbishops and bishops from almost every part of the world have accepted the invitation of the committee and will be present in Montreal during the eucharistic congress.

GENERAL BADEN-POWELL

This Master Scout Has Outscouted the Savages and the Born
Plainsmen

Winnipeg.—The unquestioned success of the Boy Scout movement in Great Britain, a success which bids fair to be duplicated in Canada, is a curious commentary on the attitude of the public when its sympathies are touched in the right way at the right time and by the right man. In an age when every tendency toward militarism is regarded with covert, if not open suspicion, when peace conferences excite more general interest than rumors of war, and when the only ground upon which the expenditure for added armaments can be popularly justified, is the argument that thereby war may be averted, it is of more than passing interest to observe that a movement such as that instituted by General Baden-Powell has won almost instant approval.

The explanation lies in the personality of the man behind the movement. Baden-Powell declared at the outset that the underlying idea of the Boy Scout training was the making of better citizens. He does not aim to make soldiers of the boys, but he does aim to cultivate a spirit of self-reliance, and an ability to take care of one's self under almost any circumstances, whether at home or in the field. The training of the boys does not interfere with their studies or their work. It is done outside of school or work hours, and is designed to be so interesting that it will take the place of aimless play or harmful loafing. General Baden-Powell is being taken at his word. The movement has general and popular support, and tradesmen and professional men are willingly doing their part by imparting to the boys a working knowledge of such parts of their business as will help them in qualifying as scouts and all-round handy men.

General Baden-Powell is among the most popular of the military heroes of the empire. He is one of the men who have done things, a warrior of a distinct type who has never been found by book precedent, and who has gone into the field and beaten Matabele and Boer at their own game. This master scout has outscouted the savages and the born plainsmen. His achievement at Mafeking touched popular sentiment as did possibly no other incident in the Boer War.

IMPORTATION OF PERCHERONS

The Best That Have Ever Left the Shores of France for this Country

Winnipeg.—One of the largest importations of perchérons to Canada has just arrived for Geo. Lane and Sons, the famous percheron breeders of Alberta. The shipment this trip comprised brought direct from France under the care of Allan Williams.

Not only has Mr. Williams brought out fifteen stallions of good size, but the shipment includes ten aged mares and fifty-two two-year-old fillies. Amongst the aged mares are several outstanding iron greys, which would easily weight over 1,600 pounds. Mr. Williams claims that some of them are the best that have ever left the shores of France for this country.

Mr. Lane intends to take this shipment to the famous Big Bow ranch, where he already has a large number of perchérons. Great credit is certainly due this firm which in continually making large outlays to improve the horse-breeding industry in Alberta, and incidentally of the whole west.

KILLED BY PECULIAR ACCIDENT

Was Struck on Side of Head by Piece of Broken Tie When Starting His Engine

Galt, Ont.—John H. Hurlbutt, a C. P. R. engineer, was instantly killed here recently. Hurlbutt was running freight train No. 54 going east, and stopped at Galt for orders. When he tried to start the train he found he could not do so as the engine had stopped on dead centre.

A yard engine was brought up to give the train a start, but on account of the projecting pilots the two engines could not be connected. A big tie was then placed as the horizontal buffer between them. Then the engine was started, but the pressure broke the tie and one of the flying pieces struck Engineer Hurlbutt on the side of the head, killing him instantly.

Designs for New Canadian Stamps

Ottawa.—It is understood that while in London en route to South Africa, Hon. Rodolph Lemieux will confer with the British postal authorities in reference to the new issue of postage stamps necessitated by the accession of King George V.

No date has yet been fixed for the issuance of the new stamps, but it is believed that an agreement will be come to by which the new stamps will be issued simultaneously in the United Kingdom and the Dominions and dependencies, probably in June next.

Swiss Balloonists

Fernie.—Switzerland will send Colonel Schaeck and Major Armbruster with the balloon Helvetia as her representatives in the international balloon race, to be held in St. Louis, Oct. 17. The race is for the James Gordon-Bennett cup for long distance flight.

Col. Schaeck has piloted the Helvetia in two races for the Bennett cup, winning the trophy in the contest of 1908, and dividing the second prize with the Swiss balloon Azura.

HARVESTERS COMING

C.P.R. DEPOT PRESENTS BUSIEST
SCENE OF THE YEAR

Thousands of Harvesters and Home-seekers are Passing Through Winnipeg at the Present Time on Their Way to Saskatchewan and Alberta Points—Demand for Harvest Hands is far from Satisfied.

Winnipeg.—The C. P. R. station recently presented probably the most animated scene of the year, the enclosure and platforms being crowded from early morning until midnight. With the arrival of No. 1 at 10-30 in the morning, one of the harvest regular trains this year, the commotion started and there was never a halt nor a breathing minute until the special train bearing harvesters and homeseekers pulled out just five minutes before midnight. The number of incoming and outgoing passengers on the regular trains was unusually large, but the chief cause for the unusual crowding of platforms and depot was the arrival of five special trains from the east bringing homeseekers and harvesters to the number of over 2,500.

About 100 harvesters came on No. 1. At 3 o'clock a special train of homeseekers arrived from eastern Ontario points. There were close to 500 in the party and those who were at the station were free in their opinion that they were the best dressed and most prosperous looking lot of homeseekers that ever came west. There was a large number of women and children, indicating that many of the homeseekers intend remaining. The greater number went west during the afternoon and evening to points in Saskatchewan and Alberta, many taking the full worth of their tickets by going all the way to Edmonton.

Four trains of harvesters arrived during the early evening, the last reaching the station just before 9 o'clock. The men were all from Quebec and eastern Ontario, the majority being from the vicinity of Montreal and Ottawa. Their trip westward was without special incident and all seemed eager to get into the fields and to work. During the evening they crowded Main street, and the hotels and restaurants near the station did a land office business feeding the hungry crowd.

Duluth, Minn.—Six hundred farm hands from eastern Canada went through Duluth on special trains for Winnipeg, making a total of about eighteen hundred this season. Many of the men in these parties are accompanied by their families and will make their homes in the Canadian northwest. The report in the railroad offices here is that the demand for laborers in the western provinces is far from satisfied and that more harvesters are expected within the next week or two.

BIG GROCERY DEAL

Million Dollar Company, With Wm.
Georgeson at the Head, Buys Foley
Bros. & Larson Business.

Winnipeg.—One of the most important business transactions in the history of Northwestern Canada has just been consummated by William Georgeson, head of the firm of W. Georgeson & Co., wholesale grocers, Calgary.

It is understood that Mr. Georgeson has formed a company with a capital of $1,000,000 for the purpose of purchasing the wholesale grocery business in this country of Foley Bros., Larson & Co., and that the negotiations have been successfully carried through.

Mr. Georgeson was formerly a partner in the firm of Codville & Co., of this city, and was one of Winnipeg's most prominent business and public men. He occupied many positions, including that of president of the board of trade, and president of the Manitoba branch of the Royal Caledonian Curling Club. About two years ago he purchased from the Codville Co. the Calgary branch of their business, and since that time has been a resident of the western city. It is likely that when the negotiations are completed Mr. Georgeson will again become a resident of Winnipeg.

Children Caught in Mower

Holden, Alta.—An accident occurred three miles southeast of Bruce, to Stewart, son of David Robinson. The boy was running along beside a mower which his older brother was operating, when by accident his feet became entangled in the cut-box and both feet were cut off at the ankles. He would have bled to death, but his brother tied shoe laces tightly above the wounds. Medical aid was not received for some hours. The boy is rallying very favorably.

Another accident of the same nature took place in the country north of here, near Vegreville, when a Galician child had both feet taken off by a mower.

Saskatchewan River Survey

Ottawa.—The statement is made at the department of public works that a preliminary report of the survey of the Saskatchewan river between Edmonton to Lake Winnipeg will be ready for parliament this session in which to gather the complete data required. It is not proposed to make the Saskatchewan navigable by the construction of a long stretch of canal. Locks will be built only where there are heavy falls of water. In stretches the depth of the water will be increased by the construction of wing dams and dredging.

THE MARKETS

CATTLE

The local cattle market is beginning to show some signs of improvement, several private sales of importance having been effected during the past week. Prices are still low but it is satisfactory to note an improvement in the demand. As the demand becomes greater towards fall, as there is every reason to hope it will, prices will probably have a tendency to rise. The whole situation will be governed by the hay crop.

OATS

Locally, oats still remain at 45c although a few sales, involving small quantities, have been put through at 50c. The price may still be considered at 45c. however.

OBITUARY

We have to record the death of Mr and Mrs R M Collins' young son who passed away on Wednesday August 24th at Dorris

We regret to announce the death of Mr and Mrs Harry Dudley's infant son which took place early on Monday morning August 22nd

Master Charles Bowhay, the young son of Dr and Mrs Bowhay of Three Hills who sustained severe injuries some short time ago from from burning, passed away at the Trochu Hospital, on Monday August 22nd after much suffering. Dr and Mrs Bowhay have the sincere sympathy of the people of Three Hills and Trochu in their sad bereavement.

The people of the Trochu district will deeply regret to learn of the sudden death of Miss Ida May Penewit. The deceased who was only 18 years of age was the daughter of Mr and Mrs Mark Penewit of Trochu. Up to a few days before her death she was in apparently good health and although she was taken ill about ten days ago her condition gave no cause for anxiety. The body was interred in the Trochu cemetery on Tuesday August 30th.

Blood Poisoning Started from Wound

An Accident Which Threatened Worst Results Until DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT was Applied

No wound or hurt but has most serious possibilities unless antiseptic treatment is applied to prevent blood poisoning.

Lives are often saved by having at hand a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment. Its antiseptic properties prevent blood poisoning and it is so remarkably healing that cure is soon brought about.

This case will interest you. Mrs. C. Hopkins, St. George, Ont., writes: "I feel like shouting the praises of Dr. Chase's Ointment. One day last year, while threshing, my son got badly hurt by having the prongs of a fork run into his leg. In a day or two it began to get very sore and blood poisoning set in. We did everything for it but it would heal in one place and break out in another. This kept on for three months, when finally we got a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment.

"In about a week's time we noticed a wonderful change and by using three boxes he was cured completely. He has had no return of the trouble. My husband was cured of a bad case of piles by the uses of two boxes of Dr. Chase's Ointment. It is a wonderful ointment."

Dr. Chase's Ointment is useful in scores of ways in every home. While its great reputation has been made as a cure for eczema and piles there is not a case of itching or irritated skin disease in which it will fail to bring relief.

The better you become acquainted with Dr. Chase's Ointment, the better you will appreciate its wonderful soothing, healing qualities. Any druggist will tell you of its remarkable record for cures.

SERVANTS IN INDIA.

Europeans in Orient Need a Big Following of Retainers.

They have a servant problem in India, and it is quite as big as the problem in other countries. If you are accompanied by your wife, then it is quite necessary the mem-sahib should have her "ayah." To endeavor to go through the east without this chocolate-colored bodyguard is to stamp yourself as either mean or else untutored in ways oriental. If you are a resident, and if it does not matter how humble a position, your bungalow is overrun with attendants. You are waited on hand and foot; but the custom means bondage of a peculiarly irritating character, since privacy is virtually non-existent.

Every man servant in India is a "boy." He may be 70 years of age, a "boy." Every waiter, every coolie, bent and white-haired, but he is always, in fact, everybody native, is "boy," except those who are reputed to be able to read and write English and insist on being called "babu." After a little while the European contracts a disease called the "boy" fever. The luxury of being waited on hand and foot is irresistible. The most insipid of Englishmen soon learn to yell "Bo-o-o-y!" in that deep and choleric tone which is supposed to have been invented by the earliest members of John Company.

To the seasoned Anglo-Indian every boy is born liar and thief. He is accepted as such ipso facto. To the newcomer this attitude toward our "black brother" is incomprehensible. After a season in India the newcomer knows why and invariably is more bitter in his race and partnership than the oldest resident. I have heard usually of third or fourth hand, of the existence of an honest boy, but I have seen none.

I was very innocent when I engaged my first boy, but then I had been only 24 hours in India. I was charmed with the appearance. His white clothes and turban were spotless. He was tall and handsome. His salaam was ecstatic and he wanted only 25 rupees a month if he stayed in Bombay, or 30 rupees if he traveled.

His "chits," or testimonials, were beautiful. Generals, majors, captains and all sorts of high military functionaries, had enjoyed the services of Behwar, as he was called, and all said what sorrow it gave them to part with him and with what pleasure they remembered him to another wandering sahib.

For two days he was as faithful as a dog. On the morning of the third he informed me he was married and had quite a lot of children; as it was my intention to go up country, would the sahib allow poor Behwar three months' salary in advance so that he could leave provision for his family. As I have said, I was very innocent, and the "boy" was so charming. I advanced him his salary, and an hour later India had swallowed him up, never to be seen by me again.

The next applicant for the post was a little Madrosi, whose face was a perpetual smile. He spoke very little English, but he was armed with a bundle of chits, of which he was abnormally proud. The first read something like this: "The bearer of this is a splendid mentor. He is a most admirable color. He has served me with great impropriety and I sincerely trust he will speedily obtain a situation in our entiers."

Pigeon Messengers.

Pretty pigeons of Australia carry packages and messages between Hobart and Maatsuyker Island lighthouse, a distance of about seventy-five miles. Last November they called a physician for a lighthouse attendant and probably saved his life. Three birds are liberated with messages every three weeks, and when accident or illness occurs three additional birds are set free. Twelve birds in all are used for the service. While messages have not always reached their destination, the service has nevertheless been highly satisfactory. The messages are written on a piece of paper tied under the bird's wing; but the marine board has in view some celluloid cases which may be adjusted under the bird's wing, and in which a good deal of information might be carried.

The birds are fed on grey peas of good quality, get plenty of grit and fresh water, and are kept thoroughly clean. They are also allowed at their station plenty of opportunity for needful exercise. That Maatsuyker Island lighthouse, which has a most isolated position, could secure a physician from Hobart sixteen hours after he had been sent for by pigeon post has suggested important possibilities for more general use of homing pigeons for such service. Trophies are to be provided for homing competitions, so as to encourage owners to breed the best descriptions of carriers. There are about 20,000 of these birds in Australia.

A Faithful Dog.

The fidelity of a dog was illustrated at the Ayshire town of Girvan recently. Mrs. Dickie, a widow and dairy keeper, returning home from a visit recently, collapsed on the road and lay unconscious for some hours. Her dog, which was accompanying her, remained on guard, and a man who came upon the scene was compelled to abandon his attempt at assistance owing to the animal's threatening demeanor. He happily thought of finding the dog's son, on whose arrival the dog became tractable and allowed its mistress to be removed home. It was found she had burst a blood vessel, from which she died.

WANT WEALTHY HUSBANDS.

Confessions of a London Matrimonial Agent.

The other day a reporter was having lunch at a famous restaurant in the Strand, London. Seated at the same table was a well-groomed gentleman, with whom he entered into conversation and secured a number of facts regarding matrimonial agencies which were quite startling.

"You would be surprised," said my table companion, "at the amount of money which is made in London and other large towns by matrimonial agents who succeed in marrying lady clients to wealthy husbands. After experiences as a matrimonial agent extending over a period of fifteen years I have come to the conclusion that women are far more business-like and ambitious in their matrimonial projects than men. And they do not quibble about paying you whatever fee you may ask—within reason, of course—for securing for them the husband they want."

"About eighteen months ago a lady came to me and told me frankly that she was looking for a husband with at least $10,000 a year. She was extremely good-looking, accomplished, and to all outward appearance a lady. She was, in fact, a governess in a titled family. To quote her own words, however, she was 'sick of the life,' and wanted to marry a man who could provide her with a fairly luxurious home, in return for which she would help him with his work and ambitions."

"Husbands with $10,000 a year, of course, do not grow on gooseberry bushes, but I felt sure that a lady with such personal attractions would have no difficulty in impressing any man looking for a wife. Ultimately I introduced her to a young iron manufacturer with a prosperous business, who was so smitten with her that they were married a few days after the introduction. The last I heard of them was that they were extremely happy together, and the husband was never tired of talking about his wife's clever business methods."

"I get a lot of letters from lady clerks, shop girls, and even barmaids, asking me to introduce them to well-to-do husbands; but as a rule they have little to recommend them, and I am obliged to tell them that I have no client who would suit. Of course, I know that many agencies run on fraudulent lines make a practice of taking fees from such girls with no intention whatever of finding them husbands. But it would not be worth my while to do business in that manner."

The usual procedure of a matrimonial agent is to send, in the first place, a letter on the following lines to a prospective client:

Dear Madam,—I am in receipt of your favor, and am confident that I can bring about an early and desirable marriage for you. I have a number of clients who, I am sure, would be pleased to make your acquaintance with a view to matrimony. If you will forward remittance according to scale of fees stated in circular, I will at once place you in communication with a selection of most suitable clients.—Yours faithfully.

John and Hannah.

The late Bishop Fowler was a broad-minded man. Bigotry he abhorred. Creed, he claimed, should never hedge one good Christian from another. Sincere creeds, no matter how diverse, should, on the contrary, bind Christians together.

Bishop Fowler used to tell about a young couple, John Smith and Hannah Jones.

John Smith was a Presbyterian, Hannah Jones was a Baptist. They hesitated about marrying because they feared that in after life, when the little ones came, religious disputes might arise. Thus the years passed. Neither would renounce their church. John Smith grew bald and Hannah Jones developed lines about her mouth and eyes. It was a complete deadlock, the world said.

Then John was sent abroad for a year by his firm to buy fancy goods. He and Hannah corresponded regularly. Toward the year's end, by a remarkable coincidence, each received from the other a letter, the two letters crossing in the mails. They said:

"Friend John,—The obstacles that stood in the way of our marriage have at last been removed. This day I was received in full membership in the Presbyterian Church.—Hannah."

"Dearest Hannah,—We have no longer any ground for delaying our union further. I united myself this day with the Baptist Church.—John."

A Consul for Regina.

Even the city states in German Europe have diplomatic corps—gentlemen with Vandike beards and monocles, whose main function is to dance and dine and, on the side, keep the ice to the heated brows of rambunctious nationalists. Regina has gone in for a consulate—quite a new sign of progressiveness indeed. Dr. Jones, American Consul-General for Canada, has told Washington to despatch a diplomat instantly to Saskatchewan's capital. As yet, the name of this diplomat of the plains has not been announced. He will have at least one distinction—he will be first in the business west of Winnipeg.

Finlanders For Hudson Bay.

The Canadian Associated Press says it is probable that at an early date an exodus of natives of Finland to Canada will commence. The Canadian Government, it is understood, is prepared to afford them facilities to settle in the Hudson Bay region.

PAIN ALMOST DROVE HIM WILD

DISEASE DEFIED TREATMENT WAS CURED AT ONCE BY "FRUIT-A-TIVES."

Mr. H. Marchessault, High Constable of the Province of Quebec, who lives at St. Hyacinthe, thought he was going to be disabled for life.

A terrible pain in the back kept him in the house and under the doctor's care for months. Nothing seemed to give relief.

Then he tried "Fruit-a-tives," the famous fruit medicine. Note the results.

"Fruit-a-tives" cured me of chronic pain in the back that was so severe that I could not drive my horse," writes Mr. Marchessault.

If you have Weak Kidneys and that Biting Pain in the Back, by all means try "Fruit-a-tives," which is made of fruit juices.

Impurities of the Blood Counteracted.—Impurities in the blood come from defects in the action of the liver. They are revealed by pimples and unsightly blotches on the skin. They must be treated inwardly, and for this purpose there is no more effective compound to be used than Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. They act directly on the liver and by setting up healthy processes have a beneficial effect upon the blood, so that impurities are eliminated.

An ideal woman is one who succeeds in concealing her imperfections.

POPULAR WEDDING

Miss M. L. Grant and Mr. Hugh A Skinner Married Friday Sept 2nd

A very pretty wedding took place at the residence of Mr W L Grant Bowden, Alberta, on the afternoon of Friday 2nd September, when Miss M L Grant and Mr Hugh A Skinner, were united in the holy bonds of wedlock by Rev W M Chalmers. The popularity of both bride and groom and the esteem in which they are deservedly held by the community was amply evidenced by the large and representative company who assembled from far and near to grace the occasion. The bride who entered the room on her father's arm looked charming in a princess gown of all-over embroidery, her bouque being composed of white chrysanthemums and maiden hair fern. The bridesmaid, Miss Hetty Grant of Edinburgh, Scot., cousin to the bride looked very dainty in silk mull. Miss Norma Greta Ogilvie of Viking, also a cousin of the bride made a dainty flower girl, looking extremely chic in white-embroidery. The groom's present to the bride was a gold locket set with pearls, and to the bridesmaid a gold brooch. The groom was supported by his brother, Mr H Skinner of Fox Cooley, Alta. On the conclusion of the ceremony the guests adjourned to the dining room where a dainty and sumptuous repast was partaken of. On the party re-assembling in the drawing room congratulatory and appropriate remarks were made by several of the gentlemen present, interspersed with music, vocal and instrumental—the interval prior to the departure of the bridal party being pleasingly and enjoyably spent. The newly wedded couple left on evening train for Calgary and Banff; the brides travelling custom being peacock blue, with large Tuscan hat trimmed with flowers. The presents which were both numerous and handsome included the following:—

Father of the bride, buffet
Mother of the bride, china set
Father of the groom, cheque
Mother of the groom, comfortors
Brothers of the bride, bedroom suite
Mrs G M Leslie, hand painted china and drapery

C H Turnbull, parlor clock
Dr and Mrs Shutt, set of silver tea spoons

A Correction

In last week's issue of the News there appeared a local announcing that a masquerade ball would be given by the ladies of St Mathew's church to-morrow night. This statement was incorrect as a ball had not been contemplated by them at all. We regret very much that the mistake occurred and hope our friends in St Mathew's church will pardon the announcement in the paper.
